Signo T500 Treatment Unit is awarded the coveted Red Dot Award 2019

and is crowned "best of the best".

The Signo T500, developed and manufactured by J. MORITA TOKYO MFG. CORP in Japan, consistently combines comfort, design and reliability. The harmonious interplay of many elements makes treatment easier for the user. The numerous functionalities designed for efficiency bring the patients into a good treatment position for the dentist. The high level of ergonomics and the successful coloring ensure a pleasant atmosphere for patients. Nervous patients particularly benefit from the pleasant cushions and the successful design, which has been developed in cooperation with the product designers from the renowned F. A. Porsche studio.

Here is the jury's statement:

The Signo T500 is an outstanding solution, since it unites all elements and requirements in a harmonious manner. This elegant dental treatment chair unit is ergonomically sophisticated and comfortable, guaranteeing intuitive operation. (...) Its modularity and flexibility have been tailored to perfectly match the requirements in dental practices.

The new treatment unit is a further development of the tried-and-tested Signo range. Maintenance and regular hygiene procedures are much easier. Many other options enable even more treatment possibilities as well as enhanced comfort and convenience for users and patients. Special innovations include the wireless foot switch, which makes annoying cables a thing of the past, and the swiveling headrest, which allows patients to be brought into the ideal treatment position.
